

Have Goodwill by Creating Stained Glass Hearts

Use tissue paper, cardstock, wax paper, and glue, you can make a colorful heart to hang these in your windows as a reminder to look at the world with the eyes of our hearts. Or hang them in a tree outside for others to enjoy as they go by. Here are the complete instructions for making these. As always, adapt if you don't have tissue paper.

You could also have fun making these heart glasses to look through, taking photos and sending to someone to brighten their day!

Intergenerational Engagement

Be sure to download the Intergenerational Engagement pages for some great activities. In this last week of our series we encourage you to add to your Dancing Ribbons to add some fun to your Praise God dance time in worship next Sunday. Grab whatever ribbons you might have at home or things that can be cut up and turned into ribbon. Be sure to add some red so you'll be ready for Pentecost Sunday only two weeks away. You'll find instructions on page three of the Intergenerational Engagement pages.

Going Deeper This Week

Prayer for this Week

This week's daily prayer is written by Rev. Bruce Prewer, alt.

Most loving God, we who believe that Jesus has been gathered to your right hand and made the hope of the universe, pray for his universal love to captivate our lives. May we in heart and mind daily live, through him, close to you, and discover the glory of heaven which is here on earth for those who believe. To your praise and through his name we pray. Amen!
